Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Msgr. Rob is away this week, so our "guest" columnist is Fr. John Foley, S.J.

Kinfolk

The Gospel for this 10th Sunday of Ordinary Time can be puzzling. For instance: Jesus is preaching, but his "relatives" come to "seize" him because "he is out of his mind." (Mark 3:21) Picture it. Who are these relatives? They seem to be identified as "his mother and his brothers"! This raises the question whether Jesus actually had brothers and sisters, and whether they, and Mary, the blessed mother, think that he is crazy!

First, did Jesus actually have brothers and sisters in our present-day sense? There are many theories, and this is one: In Semitic usage, the terms "brother," "sister" are applied not only to children of the same parents, but to nephews, nieces, cousins, half-brothers, and half-sisters. So, going by this alternative, Jesus had cousins and other kin. Do you remember his pregnant mother's trip to see her cousin, Elizabeth? Today children of "first cousins" are called "second cousins," but they would have qualified as brothers and sisters in ancient Semitic usage. Jesus would not be different from other Nazarenes in this regard. Nor would there be a contradiction to anything central to the faith.

Second, could it be that his "mother and his brothers" were among those who thought of him as "out of his mind"? The Gospel of Mark asserts only the following: "His mother and his brothers arrived. Standing outside they sent word to him and called [for] him." Perhaps this was just familial interest on their part instead of a desire to "seize him" and carry him away. Conclusion: we do not have to think that his mother was being critical of Jesus when she arrived with other relatives.

Third: but now, Jesus seems to totally ignore his family. Hearing that they are calling out to him, Jesus says, "Who are my mother and my brothers?" And looking around at those seated in the circle he said, "Here are my mother and my brothers." Some have taken this speech as Jesus rejecting Mary and his other relatives. Actually it is a statement of Jesus' mission. He is showing that the most important reason for life is the love of God and of one's neighbors, as opposed to the easy and presumably self-enclosed way of staying home where relatives will take care of you. Growth in the biblical kind of love must come from God. As Jesus says: "whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother." He is widening our life-search to include others, not indeed instead of the family but including the family in the overall purpose of life itself: letting in the love of God and passing it along to everyone we know.

Fourth, we have now discovered the meaning of Jesus' words, "whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit will never have forgiveness, but is guilty of an everlasting sin." Sounds severe, but it is just repeating the message of love. If a person or a society turns against (blasphemes against) the Holy Spirit of God, they will have shut off the very source of love. As we have seen repeatedly, Christians discovered the Trinity of God by seeing it played out in this world: the love of the Father for the Son, together with the loving inclusion of everything in existence, which is the Holy Spirit.

~John Foley, SJ

We held a beautiful and emotional Graduation Mass and Celebration for our high school seniors last weekend! Msgr. Rob shared inspiring words for our graduates. In our traditional candle lighting, we sent them forth with a blessing to be the light of Christ in the world and asked for God's protection and blessings upon them. Special thanks to Maddy Galgano, Izzy Appelt, Bernadette McNamara and Sydney Sibilia for singing our Communion meditation song, The Commission.

The front lawn was full of smiles as we enjoyed an ice cream social hosted by our junior teen leaders families! Check out our complete photo album at <https://starcc.com/youth/>

At times we can experience significant difficulties leaving us feeling isolated and alone. If you, or someone you know, is experiencing a difficult life situation such as: the loss of a loved one, a medical crisis, long-term illness or disability, divorce, family separation, or the loss of a job – please consider reaching out to a Stephen Minister.

If you, or someone you know, might benefit from speaking with a Stephen Minister, or to learn more about becoming a Stephen Minister, please contact Msgr. Rob at frrob@starcc.com.
