Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Wash Your Hands

When I was a child, we had a little step stool that was placed under the bathroom sink so that we could wash our hands without having to be lifted up by Mom or Dad. The step stool had a painting of a carousel and below the carousel image there was an inscription that read: "Wash hands and face and do it well when you step on this carousel." The fact that I can remember that sixty years after I first stepped on that step stool indicates that hand-washing was a daily ritual in my earliest years. Ritual and tradition are important to our formation as members of the human family and as believers. I'm always interested in learning about different family traditions, particularly around holidays and birthdays, and I'm a student of the connection between Jewish ritual and Catholic Liturgy. Did you know that in the temple, ritual washing was an important step before and after offering sacrifice to God? Do you see the connection between that and the lavabo – the hand-washing that the priest does immediately after he prepares the bread and wine that will be used for the re-enactment of Christ's sacrifice at the altar?

In this Sunday's Gospel, Jesus chastises those obsessed with following ritual. He calls them out because they are not authentic; that is, they worry more about ritual purification of vessels than living lives of purity. He challenges those who criticize disciples who do not wash their hands simply because the law says you should do so. Jesus suggests that what those handwashing police do is miss an opportunity to get their hands dirty serving God and their brothers and sisters. This discourse on cleanliness is an invitation to spend more time on creating a clean heart for God and neighbor. It is reminiscent of the reading from Joel that we hear on Ash Wednesday where God says "rend your hearts, not your garments." This Gospel passage is a life-giving mandate to forget about checking boxes and remembering to love without condition. It's a call to ask ourselves, "Why do I do what I do? And what am I doing for God and my neighbor?"

It's so important to wash our hands, but when it comes to living life, we have to make sure we aren't "washing our hands" of the responsibilities of discipleship. The great news is that in our prayer, Jesus will gently lead us to life-giving ritual and tradition.

Yours in Christ,

Monsignor Rob

- Not Catholic?
- Interested in learning more about the Catholic faith?
- Perhaps you were baptized Catholic and have not received all the sacraments of initiation – Reconciliation, the Eucharist, Confirmation.

St Aloysius will begin a new journey in faith during the 3rd week of September to share the richness of the Catholic Church and our parish family with those who are not Catholic or baptized Catholics who desire to complete the sacraments of initiation. We invite you to learn what our Church teaches in an open and welcoming environment. These sessions are opportunities for you to ask those perplexing and difficult questions you may have about the church.

These sessions are open to people who are unbaptized, as well as those who are baptized Christians from Protestant backgrounds and want to learn about our Catholic faith.

Please contact Deacon Bill Santulli at 203-940-0711 or santulliwb@starcc.com if you have questions or would like further information.

Invite Our Blessed Mother into YOUR home

Our Lady appeared to three children in Fatima, Portugal in 1917. She asked them to tell the world to pray the Rosary for world peace. Her request is as important now as it was then. The beautiful statue of the Blessed Mother was brought back from Fatima to St. Aloysius in 2005 and has been traveling to families in our parish since then. Those who have had the statue and prayed the rosary speak of the blessings received.

Rosary beads and instructions on how to say the Rosary accompany the statue. Please take the opportunity to introduce this beautiful devotion to your family. If you have any questions about the statue or how to say the Rosary or would like to reserve a time to have the statue, please call or email Sue Lione, (203) 966-5961 or slione@optonline.net.
