Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Celebrating the Mercy of God in the Risen Jesus

In this Sunday's second reading, Peter reminds us of the great gift of mercy given to us by God through the Risen Christ:

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who in his great mercy gave us a new birth to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance that is imperishable, undefiled, and unfading, kept in heaven for you who by the power of God are safeguarded through faith, to a salvation that is ready to be revealed in the final time.

The meaning of "mercy" is rich because it encompasses forgiveness, liberation, compassion, gift, and love. On this Mercy Sunday, we find ourselves still celebrating the Resurrection when the doubting Thomas enters the picture. He represents all of us in those moments when our faith wavers. An encounter with the Risen Jesus restores Thomas's belief, and then all the mercy that Jesus extended in his ministry must have flooded Thomas's memory: forgiving sinners, freeing the oppressed, healing the sick, giving the gift of sight, and loving God's people – even unto death. When faith is lacking, we should think of those moments of mercy we have experienced from God --and from our sisters and brothers -- who gifted us with mercy in times of fear, loss, loneliness, sickness, and doubt. Mercy abounds in the Sacramental life of the Church: Reconciliation, Eucharist, and Anointing of the Sick.

Peter continues the theme of mercy and the gift of faith, explaining the precious value of faith in times of trial:

In this you rejoice, although now for a little while you may have to suffer through various trials, so that the genuineness of your faith, more precious than gold that is perishable even though tested by fire, may prove to be for praise, glory, and honor at the revelation of Jesus Christ. Although you have not seen him you love him; even though you do not see him now yet believe in him, you rejoice with an indescribable and glorious joy, as you attain the goal of your faith, the salvation of your souls.

We don't see Jesus as Thomas saw him, but we know Him in the mercy he has extended to us from the Church and from one another. May our experience of mercy enable us to give that gift more freely.

Yours in Christ, Our Merciful Savior,
Monsignor Rob

What happened at the glorious Easter Vigil Mass last Saturday? ... It was a night that "shall be as bright as day" as we joyfully anticipated Jesus Christ's resurrection. It began with the Service of Light, which included the blessing of the New Fire and Pascal candle symbolizing Jesus, the light of the world.

The next part consisted of the Liturgy of the Word with several readings from the Old and New Testament.

After the Liturgy of the Word five Catechumens were Baptized and dressed in white garments symbolizing they were cleaned of original sin. Then, they and another four candidates received Confirmation and Holy Eucharist.

We welcome all of them with open arms and are full of joy that they answered the call of Jesus.

Where is God calling YOU to serve?

The Catholic Church emphasizes the importance of serving others as a fundamental aspect of the Christian life.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church states that the duty of making oneself a neighbor to others and actively serving them becomes even more urgent when it involves the disadvantaged. This principle is rooted in the teachings of Jesus, who taught that one should do unto others as one would have them do unto themselves.

The Church continues this tradition by actively serving the community and those in need, reflecting the love and service of Christ.

Jesus "shows us the meaning of authentic love for God and for others," he said. "It is a love that is generous, not possessive; a love that forgives without question; a love that reaches out and never abandons others."
Pope Leo XIV

How can you reflect the love of Christ?

Music Notes for the Second Sunday of Easter Dr. John Michniewicz

The Second Sunday of Easter, designated as Divine Mercy Sunday by Pope St. John Paul II in 2000, focuses on the profound biblical link between Christ's Resurrection and the merciful, forgiving love of God.

Liturgical readings from Acts and the Gospel of John illustrate how the early Christian community transformed doubt into witness, specifically through the apostle Thomas's dramatic confession of faith after encountering the risen Lord's wounds. The entrance and presentation hymns, I Know That My Redeemer Lives! and Sing with All the Saints in Glory, feature texts celebrating eternal life and victory over death, with the latter set to Beethoven's iconic HYMN TO JOY.

During the 11:30 Mass, the Choir performs Hal Hopson's triumphant arrangement of Handel's Thine Is the Glory and Paul Halley's The Rain is Over and Gone, the latter of which draws on the Song of Solomon to evoke themes of peace, renewal and a "new Jerusalem".

The final hymn, That Easter Day, features a translation by 19th-century scholar John Mason Neale of a 4th-century Latin text, paired with the 15th-century German tune PUER NOBIS. The hymn text echoes the words of the earliest Christian communities and recounts how the disciples saw the resurrected Jesus.
