Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Real Presence

The column this week is taken largely from a reflection on the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ from the University of Notre Dame Alumni Association. I loved its straightforward approach and helpful teaching, so I thought I'd share it with you.

Corpus Christi, the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, is something like the joyous bookend to Holy Thursday. At the end of Lent on Holy Thursday, we recalled the Last Supper, when Jesus instituted the Eucharist by promising us his presence in bread and wine. That meal foreshadowed his suffering and death. Anticipating his passion, he decided to give himself to his followers through this sacred meal. Today's feast comes after the fulfillment of the promise of Holy Thursday in the Easter season and Pentecost. We honored the Holy Trinity last week, and now we celebrate the gift of the Eucharist as the means by which the divine life of the Trinity saves us and makes us holy. In fact, the word eucharist literally means "thanksgiving."

Our belief in the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist begins with the words of Jesus himself. In the sixth chapter of the Gospel of John, Jesus identifies himself as the bread of life and says that "unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life within you." The word that Jesus uses when he says that whoever "eats" his flesh couldn't get more literal. In the original Greek, that word means to "munch" or "gnaw" and refers to the physical process of chewing food.

In the Eucharistic Prayer at Mass, the prayer is interrupted by a story. That story is the narrative of the Last Supper when Jesus took bread, broke it, gave it to his disciples, and said, "This is my body, which will be given up for you... This is the chalice of my blood." It is an important moment in the liturgy because in the recollection of Jesus' actions and words at the Last Supper, that same saving action becomes present at each and every Mass and the Lord himself becomes present to us in his body and blood under the appearances of bread and wine. This is the great gift that the Lord gave us—that he would forever be present to us in his body and blood when we gather to share his meal.

Certainly, Jesus' real presence under the appearance of bread and wine is a mystery, but that is not to say that we cannot understand it at all. To say that it is a mystery means simply that we cannot come to the end of understanding it. Consecrated bread and wine still appear to be bread and wine to our physical senses. Scientific examination of the transformed bread and wine confirm that their physical properties remain the same—look at the consecrated host through a microscope and it looks just like an unconsecrated host. If we use the eyes of faith, however, we see that the essence of the bread and wine—what it is, really—has changed into the body and blood of Jesus Christ.

In the words of Vatican II, the Eucharist is the "source and summit" of Christian life, and it profoundly shapes the life of a parish. Here at Saint Aloysius, we have the gift of two daily Masses, Sunday Masses, Eucharistic Adoration, and the abiding reality that we are the Body of Christ. May this Feast of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ provide an opportunity for us to deepen our belief and understanding of Jesus' real presence in the Eucharist!

Monsignor Rob

On the weekend of June 13-14, 2026, the Diocese of Bridgeport will join Catholic dioceses across the US in re-consecrating itself to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. The consecration unites our diocese with a nationwide act of faith led by the U.S. bishops, who are entrusting the country to the Sacred Heart in observance of the 250th anniversary of America's founding. Next weekend at all the Masses we will consecrate ourselves to the Sacred Heart by reciting a simple prayer. The is printed on a card that will be distributed at Mass. Most Sacred Heart of Jesus, have mercy on us!

Here is what one of our teens have to say about attending Steubenville...

"Steubenville has been one of the highlights of my summer ever since my freshman year. Through this experience, I've grown in my faith in so many amazing ways. The best part of Steubenville for me was adoration, because it truly opened my eyes as a Catholic and helped me become a better person. There are so many opportunities to encounter God, not only in serious and quiet moments, but also in fun, energetic, and joyful ways."

Music Notes for the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ Dr. John Michniewicz

The readings for Corpus Christi Year A move from the depiction of the manna in the desert (Deuteronomy 8) through Paul's theology of communion as the one Body of Christ (1 Corinthians 10) to Jesus's direct claim in John 6 that his flesh is the living bread that gives eternal life.

Sunday's Entrance Hymn (Alleluia! Sing to Jesus) and Presentation Hymn (As We Gather at Your Table) frame the liturgy with explicitly Eucharistic texts, the first drawing on a 19th century English collection devoted entirely to the Eucharist, the second echoing Paul's teaching that the many are made one through sharing the one bread.

At the 11:30 Mass, the choir's offertory anthem, Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence, draws on one of the oldest Eucharistic texts in Christian worship, the ancient Liturgy of St. James, arranged with restrained grandeur by Healey Willan, known as the Dean of Canadian composers.

The Communion hymn features the Gregorian chant Ave Verum Corpus, with the text attributed to Pope Innocent VI, to which Alexander Peloquin added an English refrain: "Lord Jesus, you are here with us. This we do in memory of you." At the 11:30 Mass, the choir will sing Thomas Pavlechko's setting of the O Sacrum Convivium, St. Thomas Aquinas's forty-three word summation of Eucharistic theology written for the Solemnity of Corpus Christi.

The final hymn, At the Lamb's High Feast We Sing, attributed by many scholars to St. Ambrose and translated by Robert Campbell, connects to Sunday's readings by referencing the Passover lamb, manna, and the Paschal Victim in direct succession, linking Deuteronomy's manna directly to the Bread from heaven.
