Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Living Water

I am amazed at the plethora of options for drinking water available these days, and I will confess that I have been trying out different brands in an attempt to find the one that will truly satisfy my taste and achieve a healthy hydration. I've ventured into the world of flavored, fruit-infused, ultra-filtered, straight-from-the-mountain-spring, sparkling, lightly-sweetened, distilled, purified, alkaline, and more. I've tried to balance my desire for flavor with the plain necessity of plain old H2O in order to live. To contextualize this in the current season of Lent, I can fast from food, but I must have water to survive and do a decent job of fasting and "Lenting." Biologists tell us that our bodies are made up of 60 percent water, and therefore without water, we will die.

In Sunday's Gospel, Jesus meets the woman at the well. The story can be summed up this way: she seeks water, she meets Jesus of whom she has heard some marvelous things, Jesus offers her "living" water; she is surprised at how much Jesus knows about her less-than-morally-sound life, she is intrigued (not entirely convinced), yet wonders if Jesus is the Christ.

Like so many moments in the Gospel – and in our own stories – Jesus offers us life-giving water (i.e., a life of grace with Him) no matter what we are like when we show up at the well. An encounter with Christ is a moment of mercy with an offer to refresh our parched and weary souls and truly live.

May we find in our Lenten desert the water we need to walk toward Easter. May we find in our prayer, the Christ whose thirst on the Cross was never satisfied, but who offers us a flood of mercy and love so that we may live forever.

Lenten blessings,

Monsignor Rob

LENT IT GO!

We get caught up in the craziness of yesterday, and let it determine our today. Come and make this Lent a stepping stone to a better Easter and Lent it go!

Colleen Kelly-Rayner has worked in ministry for over 25 years. She has been doing our Confirmation Retreats for the past six years. Parents and students alike have asked for her to come back and do other retreats for the whole parish. We are blessed to have her join us this year for our Lenten Retreat on Tuesday, March 21st at either 9 am or 7 pm in the Church. Colleen has a true gift of reaching families and having them look at their faith in a truly life-giving way.

A grace filled retreat where 33 candidates and a team of over 200 walked a journey of faith where God willing, their eyes were opened just like the disciples on the road to Emmaus! Special thanks to our leaders, The Barkers & The Nolans!
