Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Real Presence

The column this week is taken largely from a reflection on the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ from the University of Notre Dame Alumni Association. I loved its straightforward approach and helpful teaching, so I thought I'd share it with you.

Corpus Christi, the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, is something like the joyous bookend to Holy Thursday. At the end of Lent on Holy Thursday, we recalled the Last Supper, when Jesus instituted the Eucharist by promising us his presence in bread and wine. That meal foreshadowed his suffering and death. Anticipating his passion, he decided to give himself to his followers through this sacred meal. Today's feast comes after the fulfillment of the promise of Holy Thursday in the Easter season and Pentecost. We honored the Holy Trinity last week, and now we celebrate the gift of the Eucharist as the means by which the divine life of the Trinity saves us and makes us holy. In fact, the word eucharist literally means "thanksgiving."

Our belief in the real presence of Christ in the Eucharist begins with the words of Jesus himself. In the sixth chapter of the Gospel of John, Jesus identifies himself as the bread of life and says that "unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life within you." The word that Jesus uses when he says that whoever "eats" his flesh couldn't get more literal. In the original Greek, that word means to "munch" or "gnaw" and refers to the physical process of chewing food.

In the Eucharistic Prayer at Mass, the prayer is interrupted by a story. That story is the narrative of the Last Supper when Jesus took bread, broke it, gave it to his disciples, and said, "This is my body, which will be given up for you... This is the chalice of my blood." It is an important moment in the liturgy because in the recollection of Jesus' actions and words at the Last Supper, that same saving action becomes present at each and every Mass and the Lord himself becomes present to us in his body and blood under the appearances of bread and wine. This is the great gift that the Lord gave us—that he would forever be present to us in his body and blood when we gather to share his meal.

Certainly Jesus' real presence under the appearance of bread and wine is a mystery, but that is not to say that we cannot understand it at all. To say that it is a mystery means simply that we cannot come to the end of understanding it. Consecrated bread and wine still appear to be bread and wine to our physical senses. Scientific examination of the transformed bread and wine confirm that their physical properties remain the same—look at the consecrated host through a microscope and it looks just like an unconsecrated host. If we use the eyes of faith, however, we see that the essence of the bread and wine—what it is, really—has changed into the body and blood of Jesus Christ.

In the words of Vatican II, the Eucharist is the "source and summit" of Christian life, and it profoundly shapes the life of a parish. Here at Saint Aloysius, we have the gift of two daily Masses, Sunday Masses, Eucharistic Adoration, and the abiding reality that we are the Body of Christ. May this Feast of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ provide an opportunity for us to deepen our belief and understanding of Jesus' real presence in the Eucharist!

Parish Feast Mass and Ground Breaking with Bishop Caggiano: Saturday, June 24th at 5pm.

Where do you see God? How does God see you?

King David was a poet, a musician, and danced in joy that “everything in the world belonged to God”. Remembering to celebrate and enjoy beauty helps us to see God every bit as much now, as then. We are breaking ground soon to build beautiful indoor and outdoor opportunities to celebrate as People of God. Building a new campus for St Aloysius parish and upgrading our church is an essential step toward our mission recently summarized by Bishop Caggiano. The Bishop reminds us of our responsibility as a parish community to meet people where there are and provide a spiritual home for them. All of us are called to attract and nourish believers, especially our youth. And our campus is the bridge there.

In his mission called “The One” Bishop Frank reminds us that God is Beauty. We honor Him with excellence in all we do. How Beauty is found, is different for each person. The challenge before us is to build spaces to bring Beauty to our growing and changing community. In this we are not being timid, but bold and audacious, to plant seeds for future believers.

What will be happening in each part of our new campus? The Spirit will direct us. It could be the beat of contemporary praise and worship music in our new venue or in the sanctuary with better sound. Or in the meditative pulse of Gregorian chant, or the ethereal emotion of polyphony, some might cherish the spark of the divine in Catholic art, literature, music or architecture presented by visiting Catholic artists or lecturers. Or being still in worship and prayer in God’s best work in our outdoor spaces. In our community center, we will have more options to gather. A cafe to connect after Mass with friends over coffee, a place for parents of our pre-K program to meet over breakfast or be introduced to our faith in a Bible or Catechism class, board games with grandparents, watching or playing sports and cheering favorite teams over pizza, dancing to music and celebrations of births and life. Our youth will have dedicated classrooms and Emmaus will be home. The scouts will have a meeting room, the Knights of Columbus, new planning space for their mission.

We will use the classrooms to teach what we believe as Catholics to small children, our seniors and everyone in-between. We will have the capacity to meet on weekdays, evenings and Sundays. In these new spaces, we will gather to ask the hard faith questions rather than running away from them, to learn who we are to God and what we are called to do. We will identify our gifts and learn to use them. We will pray in small and large groups and encourage each other. We will reach people in new ways, opening eyes and ears. Our new chapel will double our capacity to baptize believers and provide additional space to adore Christ in the Eucharist and provide an alternative for smaller celebrations of life. The entire campus will be noisy with play and laughter, eating and drinking, quiet in contemplation, loud with applause and singing and most importantly- reverent in lovely worship and treasure of our Sacraments. And now we will be able to do this all, at the same time-on the same campus!

As we break ground on June 24, we will open our hearts, too. While the buildings take shape, focus committees will form to organize ministries of all kinds, including: music instruction, voice work, faith lectures and classes and ways to line up Catholic visiting artists and speakers and service ministries. We will continue the excellence in youth faith formation and add coordinated adult education in Catholic studies. All this building in excitement! Stay tuned!

Please pray as we build, we are building together so that we may see God in everything and in everyone!

Position Available - Executive Director/Shepherds

Shepherds is a 25-year-old non-profit based in Bridgeport whose mission is to provide educational opportunities for underserved high school students in CT. We have had tremendous success during our first 25 years and have shepherded over 350 students through high school and giving them the opportunity to attend institutions of higher education.

The full-time Executive Director works closely with our board of directors, adult volunteer mentors, academic partners, and a small staff to fulfill our mission. The team currently works with 60-70 students at a time over 4 grade levels at 2 schools. The successful candidate must demonstrate good management skills along with the ability to build relationships. The ability to communicate with a variety of constituents is critical along with the ability to problem solve.

A detailed description and additional information about our organization can be found at www.shepherdsmentors.org or by contacting Carrie Sindelar at jsindela@yahoo.com
