Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally

Contemplating the Transfiguration of Jesus

Jesus took Peter, James and John his brother, and led them up a high mountain by themselves. And he was transfigured before them; his face shone like the sun and his clothes became white as light. Matthew 17:1-2.

This Sunday's Gospel brings us to the mountain where Jesus was transfigured before Peter, James, and John. For centuries, saints, scholars, bishops and bloggers have considered the meaning of this moment that is a preamble to Jesus's suffering, dying, and rising. I've assembled below the thoughts of three Church leaders who have pondered this mountaintop event: Pope Leo XIV, Pope Francis, and Bishop Frank Caggiano.

Pope Leo XIV, General Audience, September 17, 2025: Dear friends, Christian hope is not born in noise, but in the silence of an expectation filled with love. It is not the offspring of euphoria, but of trustful abandonment. The Virgin Mary teaches us this: she embodies this expectation, this trust, this hope. When it seems to us that everything is at a standstill, that life is a blocked road, let us remember Holy Saturday. Even in the tomb, God was preparing the greatest surprise of all. And if we know how to welcome with gratitude what has been, we will discover that, precisely in smallness and silence, God loves to transfigure reality, making all things new with the fidelity of his love. True joy is born of indwelt expectation, of patient faith, of the hope that what has been lived in love will surely rise to eternal life.

Pope Francis, Angelus Address, March 12, 2017: Transfigured on Mount Tabor, Jesus wanted to show his disciples his glory, not for them to circumvent the Cross, but to show where the Cross leads. Those who die with Jesus, shall rise again with Jesus. The Cross is the door to Resurrection. Whoever struggles alongside him will triumph with him... The Cross is a call to the love with which Jesus sacrificed himself to save humanity from evil and sin. Let us ensure that the Cross marks the stages of our Lenten journey in order to understand ever better the seriousness of sin and the value of the sacrifice by which the Saviour has saved us all.

Bishop Frank J. Caggiano, Homily, Second Sunday of Lent, 2024: And so, as I often ask you, allow me to ask you this question. Is there someone in your life that you know that you know is carrying a cross and perhaps carrying it alone? Is there someone in your life or mine that we have been meaning to reach out to because chances are no one else would? Is there someone in this church right now that you've often asked yourself? You know what? I always see that person, but I don't know their name. I would like to get to know them. Because by doing that, my friends, you will get to know not only a person's name, but a person's life and perhaps a person's cross. Don't you think it is time for you and me to walk up the mountain of the transfiguration with Christ alive in your heart and mind and lift the veil of glory and help someone else to see it so that they might have courage and faith in Him? Who here is ready? Go up the mountain with Jesus.

If I were tie these three reflections together, I would say that Jesus transfigured – human and divine –shows us that we should not fear the Cross (or our own crosses.) Jesus transfigured on the mountain teaches us that the Cross of Christ is transfigured into the Tree of Life because from the Cross comes the promise of sins forgiven, wounds healed, and Paradise.

Hope your Lent is a blessing so far!

Monsignor Rob

~ Religious Education ~

Grades Pre-K to 6th

Due to several class cancellations this year, we have added a Religious Education Stations of the Cross on March 31 at 4:00 PM in the Church. All families are welcome to attend - not just those whose classes were canceled.

For students making their First Holy Communion with us this year: The Bishop's Parent Talk originally scheduled for March 12 at St. Matthew's has been changed to March 11 at 7:00 p.m. at St. Aloysius. This event is for parents only. If you have not attended one of the other scheduled dates, you are expected to attend this session.

Please remember to check your email regularly, especially on class days, for any last-minute updates. We are finding that students are still being dropped off for classes that have been canceled or are not scheduled on the calendar. All class schedules can be found online, so please be sure to check so you know when classes are being held.

For your child's safety, please wait until they have entered the building before leaving to ensure that class is in session.

Music Notes for the Second Sunday of Lent
Dr. John Michniewicz

The readings for the Second Sunday of Lent focus on the mountaintop experience of the Transfiguration of Jesus, showing Jesus to be the divine Son of God, bringing light and salvation.

The music selections, including the hymns How Good Lord to Be Here and I Want To Walk As A Child Of The Light, emphasize the vision of Christ's glory and the call to faithful discipleship.

At the 11:30 Mass, The choir anthems, Christ, Upon the Mountain Stands and Christ Whose Glory Fills The Skies, reinforce the theme of Christ as the divine, radiant light revealed in the Transfiguration.

The final hymn, The Glory of These Forty Days, anchors the Transfiguration experience within the spiritual discipline and context of the Lenten season.
