Words from Monsignor Rob Kinnally Congratulations, Christine Otis!

In November, our gifted youth minister, Christine “Chris” Otis, will receive the Saint John Paul II Parish Leadership Award at the National Catholic Youth Ministry Conference in Long Beach, California. The honor recognizes those who follow Pope Saint John Paul II’s example of serving and supporting young people in their faith journey and encourages efforts that support and strengthen young people in their daily encounter with Jesus Christ. In his letter of recommendation to the award committee, Bishop Caggiano commented on the authentic relationships Chris creates, her vibrant faith, and spirit of missionary outreach. He wrote: “She is innovative in her approach and teaches the mighty to lift up the lowly in whatever setting that might be. Both Saint John Paul II and Chris Otis see the youth as more than just a demographic. They are beloved sons and daughters of our living God, who need to be accompanied now.”

Chris has led youth ministry here at Saint Aloysius for 15 years and has created a model for youth ministries across the country; a model that does not revolve around weekly meetings but focuses on the pillars of prayer, service and worship that facilitate frequent encounters with Christ and each other. As one of our teens put it: “Mrs. Otis helps us grow closer to God and brings us together as a group to make connections with others.”

I would add that Chris provides a way to meet every teen in this parish where they are. There is something for every teen to do any time during the week or weekend. She is a servant leader who is so attuned to the needs of our teens and is so aware of what it takes to form them to become the disciples they are meant to be. She does everything with joy and energy.

I am blessed with a gifted staff who work tirelessly to make Saint Aloysius a welcoming and beautiful place to encounter Christ and one another. We are happy to pause and acknowledge one of our own team members for being recognized far and wide beyond a grateful parish. Congratulations, Chris!

Msr. Rob

It is a special opportunity to renew our missionary spirit and support the Church’s work around the world. Our second collection helps Pope Leo XIV support missionary dioceses and territories, bringing the Gospel to places where the Church is young, poor, persecuted, or just beginning to grow.

Music Notes for the 29th Sunday in Ordinary Time Dr. John Michniewicz, Director of Music

The readings for the 29th Sunday in Ordinary Time center on what belongs to God and what is owed to God. In Isaiah, the prophet describes God using Cyrus, the pagan king of Persia, to bring the exiled Israelites home. Psalm 96 continues by calling on every nation to “give the Lord glory and honor.” In 1 Thessalonians, Paul gives thanks for the church in Thessalonica, recalling their “work of faith and labor of love.” Faith shown through action is itself a way of giving God glory and honor, offering to God what belongs to God. In the Gospel, the Pharisees and Herodians try to entrap Jesus with a question about paying the census tax to Caesar. Jesus answers, “repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.” While the coin bears Caesar’s image, all people are created in the image of God and owe their whole selves to God. Sunday is also World Mission Sunday, established by Pope Pius XI in 1926 and now in its 100th anniversary year. The day highlights and supports the Church’s missionary work around the world. Isaiah and Psalm 96 both speak of all nations coming to know God, underscoring the Church’s missionary activity.

The Entrance hymn, Praise to the Lord, the Almighty (Worship Hymnal No. 616), invokes God as “the King of creation, who reigns “o’er all things,” echoing God’s words in Isaiah: “I am the LORD and there is no other.” Sunday’s Presentation hymn is God, Whose Giving Knows No Ending (Worship Hymnal No. 805), which names the skills, time, and treasure that come from God and are meant for God’s service. At the 11:30 Mass, the Choir sings a setting of Psalm 96, Sing to the Lord a New Song, as the Presentation anthem, a call for all the earth to declare God’s glory among the nations.

The Communion hymn is the Latin Taizé chant Laudate Dominum (Worship Hymnal No. 625), whose refrain calls on omnes gentes, “all nations,” to praise the Lord. At the 11:30 Mass, the Choir’s Communion Meditation is The Majesty and Glory of Your Name, based on Psalm 8, which reflects on God crowning humanity “with glory and honor.” The Final Hymn, To Jesus Christ, Our Sovereign King (Worship Hymnal No. 570), was written in 1941, during World War II, as a reminder of Christ’s sovereignty. While the Roman coin proclaimed the emperor as divine, the hymn affirms that Christ alone is the true Sovereign King.
